Excellent.

You must have benefitted greatly from the strong tail winds?

See if you have time before we meet up again to read what I just sent James Crawford, which has yet to be added to the \$ hit list, and also let me know how you would respond to all his other points, which of course I have covered previously, but maybe you have better verbiage.

Don't, however, take your eye off the ball when pitching Dell's "crazy new product" that the pricing might change were the oil companies forced to go back and pay the true cost of shipping oil, not just today, but to figure in the pricing having to compensate foreign countries for US oil companies relying on the US military to get their mineral drilling rights, which of course takes you back to the pivotal year 1902, the year De Beers' Anglo Boer War ended, which was the same year De Beers founder Cecil Rhodes died, which was the same year Sir Ernest Oppenheimer arrived in South Africa, which was the same year American-German Charles W. Engelhard Sr. established in New Jersey, Engelhard Minerals and Chemicals and when he died in 1950, his son of the same name, Charles W. Engelhard [1917-1971] inherited not just the "black book" containing all the bribes, but the title, The Platinum King only because 80% of the world's platinum is mined in South Africa.

Not to mention platinum only began to skyrocket in price when the US Congress, soon after the US went officially off the Gold Standard on August 15th, 1971, mandated that a piece be placed in the catalytic converter of the exhaust system of each new motor vehicle sold in the US.

To mention little of this most extraordinary transfer of wealth by the US Government to individuals who had all the wars following the Anglo Boer War, to thank for their initial wealth, took place just 166 days after Engelhard Jr. was assassinated; this virulent anti-Semite and open supporter of the US Government's Apartheid Regime having turned just 54 the month before, and my "lucky uncle" David Gevisser was now not only Chief Executive Officer of Engelhard Enterprises South Africa that controlled the world supply of platinum, but David Gevisser was also now one of 3 executors of this most important estate, and Engelhard's wife Jane whose first German-Jewish husband committed suicide in very mysterious circumstances right before Hitler invaded Poland, was the second, and the 3rd, Engelhard's one lawyer who advised David Gevisser that even though he was not a US citizen, if President Nixon who was most eager to find out if there was "foul play" in the death of Engelhard who owned Nixon as much as anyone, wanted an audience with the CEO of such an important consortium, then he should go.

To mention in passing, you would know that the most important event at the end of the life of any mafia don, let alone the don of dons, is who gets invited to his funeral. Engelhard's funeral at St. Mary's Abbey Church, Morris Town, two words, New Jersey drew none other than Senator Ted Kennedy, former President Lyndon Johnson and Vice President Humphrey who all knew that Engelhard was leaving a very clear legacy of being a "liberal" here in the United States and a supporter of dictatorships throughout the rest of the world; and they also knew that Engelhard never thought of himself as a hypocrite either when supporting both the Democratic and Republican parties as he considered them one and the same, which we all now know.

When you don't have the media pointing this all out then there is NO free press.

It is important that highly decorated US soldier David Bellavia is the one who first asked the question as well, "When did they become corrupt?"

Only an intellectual midge or a crook would say they don't see any relationship between today and the Bankers Manifesto of July 4th, 1892.

Stupidity and corrupt are one and the same.

Once you have the knowledge, you know everyone's game.

You will have noticed how I just moved the long conversation we had yesterday to a whole new level, but I believe you can handle it; in part because you have a most beautiful wife.

BTW, do you see anything wrong in nature with beauty attracting beauty?

What if it were ugly attracting ugly?

Since it isn't shouldn't we also pay attention to that dumb look that comes over people's faces when they have been caught doing ugly things like lying, stealing and cheating?

You would agree that a blank look on someone's face is not appealing and nor does it make you want to spend more time with them?

This should help keep our future conversations both fun and rewarding.

Good afternoon Gary. I just landed in Washington enroute to the UK. Going to meet with a major telecom operator and convince them to launch our crazy new product! I will be back on Friday eve. Have a good week and maybe we can catch up next week as I should be in town. Cheers, don
